Jorgensen Launches New Legislative Website

MADISON – Assembly Democratic Caucus Chair and State Representative Andy Jorgensen (D-Milton) today launched his redesigned legislative website, touting its increased interactivity for constituents. Jorgensen's site, hosted by the Wisconsin Legislative website, can be found by entering legis.wisconsin.gov/assembly/43/Jorgensen in your browser or by entering "Andy Jorgensen" into a search engine like Google.

"My top priority has always been – and continues to be – staying in touch with the folks I've been elected to serve," said Jorgensen. "My new and improved legislative website provides more opportunities for two-way communication, 24/7."

The Jorgensen website offers extensive information on his legislative agenda, as well as a list of upcoming listening sessions. The site features links to help people sign up for SeniorCare, search for jobs, and watch the Legislature live, in session. It also provides visitors with a way to sign up for Jorgensen's weekly electronic newsletter or connect with his Facebook and Twitter accounts.

"Whether it's easier for you to send me a tweet or sit down with me over a cup of coffee, I want you to feel you have access to me as your state representative," said Jorgensen. "What matters to you matters to me – so please, stay in touch."

For those who do not have access to the Internet, Rep. Jorgensen is always reachable via his toll-free telephone number, (888) 534-0043. His Capitol office, 113 North, is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
